

There have been no changes to ADA law.

Letter from the Director

Greetings!

The staff at the Rocky Mountain ADA Center are winding down from an extremely busy October. Last month, we provided training and outreach at over 20 events in three states. We trained on service animals, the history of the ADA, self-evaluation and transition planning, and social media. We worked with many different groups – from Rural Independent Living to Nonprofits to state associations for construction and transportation.

In addition, we launched a new website! We look extra care to design a site that would be usable by people of varying abilities and we brought the site in line with our brand. We hope that you have had a chance to visit www.RockyMountainADA.org.

When you are on our website, pop over to our training section. There you will find our new Learning Management Software and be able to access free on-line training. These sessions have been redesigned to provide a more user-friendly training experience. We just launched a Title II course. Title I and Title III will be published later this month.

As we move forward this November, the staff of the Rocky Mountain ADA Center would like to extend our deepest gratitude for all that you do every day. We are proud to be able to support so many organizations as you seek to increase accessibility and inclusion for individuals with disabilities. For this, we are truly

Best,

Dana Barton

News

- New ADA legislation introduced
- Dept of Justice settles with SD
- Greyhound offers compensation
- Judge approves CO housing project
- DOJ has flexible view of websites

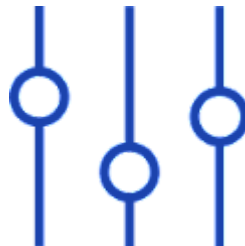

ADA in Practice

- Llamas make trails accessible
- ADA mediation program
- First ASL Starbucks opens
- Private clubs and the ADA
- Reasonable accommodations

Training and Events

- NEW Title II online training
- JAN Webcast Series
- ADA Basics course
- National Network training
- Request customized training

Research

- Inclusivity leads to more revenue
- Labor force statistics
- Jobs report for Sept. 2018
- Addiction, recovery and the ADA
- Children and youth with disabilities

Featured Video

CC: But be aware. When a trained service animal barks, it may be an indication the customer with a disability is in distress. As such, do not immediately assume that the animal is being disruptive because of a bark.

Traveling with Service Animals (CC)

Rocky Mountain ADA Center - New Website!

Don't forget to take a look at our new website. Please send us any feedback you have. If you're not sure where to find a resource you previously accessed, let us know and we'll be happy to direct you to the new location. Many thanks to New Vista Digital for designing a beautiful and accessible website!

Need Help?
1 (800) 949-4342
(719) 358-2460 (VP)

HAVE A QUESTION?

Home Topics ▾ About Us ▾ Services ▾ Contact Us

Search

The best information & resources on the ADA (American's with Disabilities Act)

Specifically catered to individuals and organizations throughout Colorado, Utah, Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota.

LEARN MORE

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼

Visit the Website

The Rocky Mountain ADA Center is owned and operated by Meeting the Challenge, Inc., and is supported by grant #90DP0094-01-00 from the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research. NIDILRR is a Center within the Administration for Community Living (ACL), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). The Rocky Mountain ADA Center is a part of the ADA National Network which consists of 10 regional centers and an ADA Knowledge Translation Center.

Copyright © 2018 Rocky Mountain ADA Center, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.

